U.S. Vice-President Humphrey Will Speak To BYU Students

The Vice-President of the United States will speak in the BYU Smith Fieldhouse at 1:30 p.m. Friday.
Hubert Horatio Humphrey will jet to Salt Lake City, arriving at noon for a political rally in support of J. Keith Melville, democratic candidate for Congress and BYU political science professor; Senator Frank Moss and Congressman David King.

According to Frank Messel, executive assistant to Congressman King, Vice President Humphrey will then travel to Provo to address BYU students for one hour.

ANSWER QUESTIONS

He will answer questions directed to him by a panel of BYU students after his address.

In his talk Vice President Humphrey will discuss the foreign policy of the U.S.

Humphrey is becoming known as the Johnson Administration's most articulate exponent of U.S. Asian policy.

He recently stated, "Communism in Asia is not a subject of academic discussion. It is a matter of survival. Viet Nam today is as close to the U.S. as London was in 1940."

In defending American policy in Viet Nam he has said, "The National Liberation Front is not national, and it liberates no one. The only honest word is that it's a front. It is a front for the Communist Party out of Hanoi, backed by the Peking Communist Party."

Vice-president to speak Friday . . .

The vice presidency, long known as a pigeon hole for losing party presidential nominees, has come to be an important position. Dwight Eisenhower started the trend by giving Richard Nixon various responsibilities, and by Nixon's substitution for Eisenhower during his illness.

More recently the importance of the post came under serious consideration with the death of John F. Kennedy and the immediate statement of Lyndon B. Johnson to the presidency.

GREATER RESPONSIBILITY

For this reason, Johnson has given Humphrey a large share of the branch, using his especially as an administration mouthpiece on the Viet Nam policy.

Humphrey, now 54, arrived in the Senate in 1949 on the same day that President Johnson arrived there. He was elected to the vice presidency in 1964 on a landslide presidential ticket.

A native of South Dakota, Humphrey has a grass roots background.

ASU Stops Win Skein

by Gary Wood
Universe Sports Writer

For 20,119 fans, Friday night in the Cougar Stadium was cold and dreary.
Almost as dismal as the football game.

Arizona State's Sun Devils ended BYU's win streak at six games in what was perhaps the most poorly played grid contest in the stadium's two-year history.

The visiting Devils made a first quarter touchdown and a second period field goal stand up for a 10-7 victory against a favored Cougar eleven.

ASU's record now stands at two wins and three losses, while Coach Tommy Hudspeth's defending Western Athletic Conference champs are now 3-1 for the season.

MUST WIN ALL

With Wyoming's win over New Mexico Saturday, the Cougars must win all of their remaining games to tie for the Conference title. The Cowboys are undefeated, after four league games.

Down They Go

A horde of BYU tacklers converge on Arizona State's Richard Mann (30) during Friday night's WAC grid contest in Cougar Stadium. Cougar defenders are Dave Alphin (80), Steve Peterson (86), Ben Lavery (25) and an unidentified mate.

The two teams meet in Provo on November 9.

"We'll win all of our remaining games," said a disappointed Coach Hudspeth following Friday night's bitter defeat.

"We didn't play the football tonight that we are capable of playing, but there is too much character in our boys for them to let this bother them."

On the extremely slick field, the defensive units controlled the tempo of the contest.

Prices Too High Say Irate Housewives

DENVER (UPI)—Score it one to nothing for the housewives—and the game hasn't officially started yet.

A threatened boycott by thousands of Colorado housewives against major supermarket chains, scheduled to formally begin Monday, already has notched its first success.

Saturday, Miller's Supermarkets announced a price cutback of thousands of items at its 43 stores in Colorado. Although the chain wouldn't say the cutbacks were caused by the threatened boycott, the announcement coincided with the housewives' cries against high food prices.

But the Housewives for Lower Food Prices (HLFP) still planned to launch its boycott Monday for an indefinite period against the five major Colorado supermarket chains including Miller's.

Mrs. Paul West, head of the group, said Miller's prices cuts were "a step in the right direction." But, she said, the HLFP would investigate the prices at Miller's and, if they were lower, "we will probably end our boycott against them."

Mrs. West said the housewives would patronize the independent grocer instead of the chains. If the independents raised their prices she said, the women would buy their meat from meat markets, their milk from dairies and their bread from the baker.

BYU Industrial School Hosts Norwegian Profs.

Last week, the College of Industrial and Technical Education was visited by two professors from Norway. Professor Hegstad and Professor Anderson are on a six-week tour of the U.S. representing the Tinius Olsen School in Kongsberg, Norway.

The Tinius Olsen School trains industrial arts teachers, for the Norwegian schools, and three-year engineering technicians. The visitors indicated they are setting up a manufacturing engineering technician program to start next year. Their tour is to study manufacturing technology programs in this country. An article published in the "Tool and Manufacturing Engineer" Magazine by Dell Allen of the Industrial Technology Dept. attracted them to BYU.

COMPARE PROGRAMS

The visitors compared their program with the Manufacturing Technology Program offered on this campus and stated, "Of all the programs we have investigated during our first four weeks, the BYU program is best." They based their observation on the need to prepare technicians with the training needed in industry.

Professors Hegstad and Profesor Anderson were hosted by Duane Schow, also of the Industrial Technology Department, who was able to converse with them in their native tongue since he served a mission in Norway. The visitors were given a tour of the Snell Industrial Education Building which houses the Industrial Education and Industrial Technology Departments.

IMPRESSED

They were impressed with the facilities and made special acclaim of the numerically controlled milling machine and the electro-discharge machine. During their visit, the two professors collected course outlines from the instructors in the Manufacturing Technology Program and indicated a desire to consider a future exchange of professors between the two schools.

Record Set

Enrollment at BYU includes 29,029 daytime students and 1,326 union-duplicated evening students for a total of 21,350 announced President Ernest L. Wilkinson as tabulations were completed.

The figure is a new record for BYU.

Y Debators Place High In Contest

Placing among the top three teams in both senior and junior divisions at a two-day forensics tournament at the University of Wyoming at Laramie, BYU debaters started their 1968-69 season this weekend.

The University of Denver won the junior division, which includes freshmen and sophomores, winning over Tim Hegstad and Kary Ledbetter of BYU in the final round.

TIED FOR THIRD

In the senior division, open to upperclassmen, the Air Force Academy took the final round and first place from the U. of D. BYU team members Jim DeMoux and Marge Miller tied for third place.

In the individual events, Marian Burdick of BYU took third place in the oratory division.

17 SCHOOLS

Seventeen schools were represented at the Laramie tournament, including several intermountain colleges.

"The competition is already tough, but I think we will do even better next weekend at the tournament in Billings, Mont., says Jim DeMoux, debate manager.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(By the author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!"
"Dobie Gillis," etc.)

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Way back in 1953 I started writing this column about campus life. Today, a full 13 years later, I am still writing this column, for my interest in undergraduates is as keen and lively as ever. This is called "arrested development."

But where else can a writer find a subject as fascinating as the American campus? Where else are minds so nettled, heads so cocked, campus so convulsed?

Right now, for example, though the new school year has just begun, you've already encountered the following disasters:

1. You hate your teachers.
2. You hate your courses.
3. You hate your room-mates.
4. You have no time to study.
5. You have no place to study.

Friends, let us, without despair, examine your problems one by one.

1. You hate your teachers. For shame, friends! I'm looking at things their way. Take your English classmate's word for instance. He says his teacher is "the best in the world." And a pre-war novelist like Nabokov? Browning, yet he wears $30 tweed jackets and a new-look sweater while his brother Sam, a high school dropout, earns 70 thou a year in aluminum siding. Is it so hard to understand why he writes "E!" on top of your themes and "Eeyeeeh!" in the margin? Instead of hating him, should you not admire his dedication to scholarship? His disdain for the blandishments of commerce? Of course you should, but what does it have to do with your class?
2. You hate your courses. You say, for example, that you don't see the use of studying Macbeth when you are majoring in veterinary medicine. You're wrong, friends. Believe me, some day when you are running a busy kennel you'll be mighty glad you learned "Oot, damned Spot!"

3. You hate your room-mates. This is, unquestionably, a big problem—in fact, the second biggest problem of American campuses. (The first biggest, of course, is on which side of your mortar board do you dangle the tassels at Commencement?) But there is an answer to the room-mate problem: keep changing room-mates. The optimum interval, I have found, is every four hours.

4. You have no time to study. Friends, I'm glad to report there is a simple way to find extra time in your busy schedule. All you have to do is buy some Persona Super Stainless Steel Blades. These blades will be able to give your face a shave away with inferior blades, mangling your face again and again in a tedious, feckless effort to winnow your whiskers. Persona shaves you quickly and slickly, easily and breezily, hacklesly, scrappulously, tuglessly, nicklessly, scratchlessly, matchlessly. Furthermore, Persona Blades last and last. Moreover, they are available both in double-edge and injector style. And, as you weren't told, Persona is now offering a special advance discount of $10.00 off the $100.00 Persona Super Stainless Steel Sweetpeaks to all of us running! You can win $10.00 and even more. Get over to your Persona dealer for the details and an entry blank. Don't just stand there!

5. You have no place to study. This is a thorny one, I admit, what with the library so jammed and the dorms so noisy. But with a little ingenuity, you can still find a quiet, deserted spot—like the ticket office of the lacrosse team. Or a testimonial dinner for the dean. Or the nearest recruiting station.

You see, friends? When you've got a problem, don't lie down and quit. Attack! Remember: America did not become the world's greatest producer of milk solids and sorghum by running away from a fight!

The makers of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades (double-edge or Injector style) and Burma-Shave (regular or menthol) are pleased (or apprehensive) to bring you another year of Max Shulman's uninhibited, uncensored column.

Devils, Breaks Stop Cougars

a good indication of the ineptness of the offensive efforts of the WAC foes.

The combined total offense of the two opponents comes to a mere 446 yards—BYU has been averaging 33 yards per game.

Against the Sun Devils, the usually potent Cougar offense could generate but 83 yards on the ground and 167 through the air lanes for 250 nets yards.

Poor though BYU's offensive effort was, Arizona State's was even less potent. The Sun Devils managed to move the ball against the rock-ribbed Cougar defense for only 156 yards—83 on the ground. The Devils were forced to punt nine times—two short of the stadium record.

STATISTICS & BREAKS

The Cougars won the battle of statistics, but Arizona State won the war on breaks.

Perhaps the most obvious came on a key pass play in the final quarter.

Y quarterback Stewart Simpson, from his own 25, spotted wingback Casey Boyett in the clear at mid-field and hit him with a perfect aerial.

The fleet wingback, with Ode in front to block, swivel-hipped two ASU defenders and was off to the goal, but slipped on the unstable turf and was down on the Sun Devil 30-yard line—a 45-yard gain.

But two plays later the Cougars were again betrayed by their stadium field as Perry Rodriguez fell chasing a Simpson toss that was immediately grabbed by defensive back Ken Dyer.

The Cougars had one more chance for a TD drive, but ASU's Chuck Hunt picked another pass by Simpson to give the Sun Devils the victory.

Arizona State capitalized on another break early in the game for their only touchdown of the error-marred contest.

Curley Clup, ASU middle guard who was voted outstanding lineman of the game, recovered a fumble in the BYU backfield on the Y 13 yard line.

Speedy Arizona State halfback Max Anderson—the game's Outstanding Back, according to the press writers—sped around right end for the score.

Cougar tailback Perry Rodriguez (30) matches his speed against the defensive efforts of a trio of would-be Arizona State tacklers in first quarter action of last Friday's contest. Rodriguez gained 22 yards in six carries.

Predictors' Mediocre Weekend

The Daily Universe board of experts improved its record of prognostications this week.

Led by Associated Press writer Dave Fitzpatrick who posted a five 11-3 record, none of the regular board members missed more than five predictions.

Sports Editors Gard Wood and Gary Dayton each came up with a 10-4 record, while Assistant Sports Editor Dennis Read, the IBM 7040, Coach Chris Apostol and guest Melvin Dodd posted 9-5 records.

Again a challenger outgassed the board. Neil Hammer, Shelby, Idaho, submitted a remarkable 12-2 record. Hammer will be next week's guest.

Most everyone was surprised when Air Force bowed to Oregon, 17-6. With the exception of the BYU-Sun Devil tilt, most of the games went pretty much as predicted.

Powerful Notre Dame smothered the Tarheels of North Carolina, 32-0, while on the west coast, USC took the Stanford Indians, 21-7. The Bruins of UCLA had a 49-12 picnic against Penn State, and Michigan State won a close one over Ohio State, 11-8.

Cougar Grid Fans Moan, Coach Sees Comeback

by Dave Fitzpatrick
Universe Sportswriter

The second Western Athletic conference football game will be on regional television from Tucson. The first was on local television from Provo. Staidly, fans were disappointed in the results of the Arizona game and the moans and whistles could be heard far into the night. But it was the Cougars and thus far only—hus, and s won't have to "wait till early" for a better team.

WILL BE BETTER
Cougars will be better, and going to Coach Tom Hadspeh, in good shape to go the way undefeated. A team the explosive offensive that BYU has, coupled with a ribbed defense, can't be much this season. In Friday evening, BYU's proved it was one of the contenders in the area. Led by linebackers Moses Kim and Sid Fraeter and linemen Glen Gardner and Joe Scanlan, the defense held ASU to a offensive total of 156 yards.

OFF THE BENCH

On offense, reserve quarterback Stew Simpson came off the bench and took over the Cougar attack expertly when regular Virgil Carter faltered. Stew directed the attack with aplomb and Cougar fans will be glad he's around next year.

Arizona State had some excellent personnel on the field Friday, both on offense and defense. Halfback Max Anderson was voted the outstanding back of the game. Defensive tackle Curley Culp got the nod as the best lineman.

Another player who performed well for the San Devils was a sophomore end. His name—Fair Hooker (honest).

COOL CHICKS

Cheerleaders from ASU were present at the game and they probably should have brought their long underwear. The temperature at game time was 36 degrees and went downhill from there.

Still, many students braved the cold and turned out. Official attendance was higher than anyone had expected. Hardier fans will remember a Saturday afternoon game against the University of Pacific two years ago.

BELOW FREEZING

The temperature was below freezing and a full scale blizzard was raging. There was one saving grace BYU won.

The halftime show last Friday was superb as usual. The Cougar marching band performed expertly, even if lips and brass instruments were mangled by the cold. And the fiery baion sequence was also excellent.

Tucker Invitational...

Allin Leads Y Golfers To Second

by John Apgar
Universe Sportswriter

"This is the best performance by a Western Athletic Conference player in the history of the tournament."

Such was comment of Coach Karl Tucker as he praised Bud Allin's first place tie in the William H. Tucker Invitational college golf tournament. In a sudden-death playoff, Bud lost the championship to Doug Olson of Houston.

Brigham Young finished second in the team scoring behind highly favored Houston University. The Cougars proved that they would be the team to beat in the Conference next spring as they topped all the WAC opponents entered.

Bud was as far back as six strokes with 15 holes remaining. The Cougar leader then put together three birdies in the last 9 holes to tie Olson.

Both players parred the first two holes of the sudden-death playoff, but Olson got a birdie four to Allin's five on the third hole of the University of New Mexico course. Bud's torrid pace earned the respect of players and coaches alike as he had to fight against bad weather conditions along with Olson's big lead.

Five out of the six team members of the Cougar squad finished in the top twenty, John Miller, the U.S. Open Amateur Champion, took fourth place.

The Cat golfers will continue to practice as long as the weather holds out even though they won't face any competition until next Spring.
